Out of the 70 vessels of which it is composed, only 12 are fit for service, and of these 12 only 4 are ironclads. Of the 58 vessels unfit for service, 20 are ironclads, which are rotting in the docks for want of repairs. SECOND SESSION.

The Council met at 3 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment, and was called to order by the Bishop.

Rev. Mr. SULLIVAN, of Chicago, said a few words in explanation of his remarks of yesterday in relation to the Cheney trial. He had been misunderstood by some persons. He had not intended to censure the Court, but only to express his opinion that the Court had not given the proper interpretation to the Canon. He had not intended to say that the Court was influenced by improper motives.

Rev. Mr. GILDERSLEEVE, of Joliet, said that he had not understood the gentleman from Chicago as censuring the Court.

Rev. Mr. SULLIVAN, of Chicago, said that he had not intended to censure the Court, but only to express his opinion that the Court had not given the proper interpretation to the Canon.

Rev. Dr. CHARLTON, of Peoria, moved that the Council proceed to the election of Deputies to the General Convention.

Rev. Mr. GILDERSLEEVE, of Joliet, moved that the report of the Committee on the report of the Committee on Canons be taken up.

Rev. Dr. CHARLTON, of Peoria, moved that the Council proceed to the election of Deputies to the General Convention.

The BISHOP did not know how harmonious the Council would be in the matter, but he could not be, and never ought to be. There could not be a reelection of Deputies, as the Council was not a corporation, and they could not expect it. It was the duty of the Council to elect Deputies to represent the Diocese upon the highest civil principle.

Rev. Dr. FISHER, of Springfield, thought the Council should proceed to the election of Deputies.

Rev. Dr. LEFFINGWELL said that the Council was the proper place to make the election, and the Deputies were the servants of the Council.

Rev. Mr. CHAMBERLAIN, of Rock's Nest, moved that the Council proceed to the election of Deputies.

The motion was carried.

The Council then proceeded to the election of the Deputies, with the following result:
